ENTHUSIASM NOT IN EVIDENCE AT THE REPUBLICAN MEET IN CHICAGO

The Keynote Address Evokes Cheers Lasting Less Than a Minute; Usual Noisy Demonstrations Not Held.

HOPE OF PARTY REUNION IS CHIEF UNDERCURRENT

Opening of Convention Shoves Coalition Rumors Into the Background. But Discussion Continues Anyway.

By Evening Herald Leader Wirt
Chicago, June 1.—The Republican national convention, after a two and a half hour meeting today, adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow after hearing the keynote speech by Senator Harding of Ohio, and doing the usual preliminary organization work.

Emphasizing that it was not a time for recrimination but of a reconstructive nature, Senator Harding urged the delegates to forget the disastrous differences of four years ago and plunge into the coming campaign with a dedication of principles that would bring success at the polls.

The convention received the temporary chairman's speech with punctuations of applause and cheers and his salutes against the Democratic administration with laughter and handclapping.

Mr. Harding spoke about an hour and closed with a peroration on Americanism and Republicanism. The vice was greeted by a brief outbreak of hand-clapping and cheering lasting less than a minute.

The role of harmonic with the Progressives who assembled in convention about the same time was lost for the time being in the work of organizing the convention, but it was evident from the surface now that there were renewed indications that the republican leaders were considering the plan of appointing a conference committee to talk with the Progressives in the hope of finding a compromise ground.

As the Republican and Progressive conventions assembled today, there was no outward evidence of any marked change in the situation, though conferences among the leaders failed to develop any definite plan on which they could agree on a candidate who would receive the unanimous support of both factions, but one of peace was in the air. The proposal to have both conventions support conference committees was being discussed on both sides and some of the Republican leaders persisted in their predictions that ultimately there would be harmonious action in some way. The conference themselves were so engrossed in petty details of getting under way and care of delegations from their own states and guests that they had little time for further serious discussion of candidates and realized that the consideration of the question had actually moved to the conventions themselves. Some of the Republican leaders felt today that their convention might not proceed to nominations before Friday and even before prospects of harmony developed at the last moment. The favorite sons were considering the question of bidding their men supporters if the nominating votes were to be delayed beyond the time originally planned. Most of the Republicans have agreed that a presidential candidate would be nominated Friday but some predict it will be Saturday, and there are others who feel that the prospects of peace negotiations at the eleventh hour might even throw the convention over into next week.

If there was any change at all in the line-up it showed an increase in strength of Hughes. For the most part the figures of the managers of favorite sons' teams were not changed. There was not a sign of a demonstration or a band playing until half past the time of assembly last night or demonstration has been one of the unique features of this convention period. A cold rain continued to sweep the city. Delegates were a sorry sight and bedraggled looking as they marched down the street at 11:30 a.m.

The Republican national convention began its first day's business shortly before noon today by hearing the keynote speech by Senator Harding of Ohio, temporary chairman, and then going on to perfect a temporary organization.

There was applause, enthusiasm and cheers, but a notable absence of almost狂热的 demonstrations which were marked previous conventions.

Senator Harding was greeted by the first loud demonstration as he took his place and began delivering the prepared speech in which he emphasized the need for just harmony for victory at the polls. A roar of applause swept over the hall at that time and at his reference to the need of preparation for nation defense.

Senator Harding's speech was long.

Bold Bad Bandit Takes a Fine Dinner But Leaves Victim $900 In Cash

Kansas City, Mo.—White C. T. Wiggin, owner of a poultry stall at the city market, was waiting for a car last night at Seventeenth street and Broadway, an agreeable stranger accosted him. A moment later the stranger stepped around the corner of the shelter house and returned wearing a mask and carrying a revolver.

"Dig up," he said. Wiggin yielded. The robber seized a suitcase containing Wiggin's Sunday dinner and fled. Wiggin retained $900 in cash and diamonds in a wallet inside his shirt. The robber was more than six feet tall and wore a slouch hat.
